Ample scope for joint development of mines by the Sultanate and Iran

More opportunities will open up after the removal of trade sanctions against Iran and the full operation of the pipeline shipping lanes between the two countries, says an Iranian official.

TEHRAN (AP) — An Iranian official says the removal of trade sanctions against Iran and the full operation of the pipeline shipping lanes between the two countries will open up ample opportunities for joint development of mines by the Sultanate and Iran.

The official, who was speaking at a meeting in Tehran, said that the removal of trade sanctions against Iran will allow for the full operation of the pipeline shipping lanes between the two countries, which will open up ample opportunities for joint development of mines by the Sultanate and Iran.

OMAN MINERALS & MINING EXHIBITION & CONFERENCE
30 November – 2 December 2015, Muscat, Sultanate of Oman

Dear Visitors,

Greetings from the Oman Minerals & Mining Exhibition & Conference team.

We would like to inform you that PUBLIC HOLIDAYS in Oman have been announced, which will fall on the 2nd and 3rd of December. Keeping the holidays in mind, the organizing committee of Oman Minerals and Mining Exhibition & Conference along with Public Authority of Mining and the Ministry of Commerce & Industry have decided to reschedule the event dates to 30 November, 1-2 December. The conference dates will remain: 1-2 December 2015.

This decision has been taken to minimize the effect of the public holidays on the visitor turnout. Please plan your visit accordingly.

We look forward to your support.

Sincerely,
